SOLUTIONS FOR THE HYPER
LOCAL MARKET

In the space of a year itmatters2me.co.uk (IM2M) covers all 179 Wards in Suffolk (which are our Communities) with a population of approximately 710,000.

Within 2 years itmatters2me.co.uk will cover the East of England and the whole of the United Kingdom in five years with a predicted daily use of 5 million impressions.

What IS 'HYPER LOCAL'?

Launched in 2007 itmatters2me has achieved what local and national newspapers have been struggling to attain for years. That's to develop an affordable advertising portal for the Hyper-Local market place.

Hyper Local is the industry term for that section of local community news coverage that is not viable or cost effective to print and distribute. Where current local newspapers do exist the cost to any advertiser is high and the outcome questionable. IM2M allows the advertiser to target their local client base and where appropriate into all neighbouring communities. IM2M provides this at a fraction of the price and with a quantifiable outcome (see page 4 for comparisons).

But itmatters2me allows readers to do far more than they can with print. Users can find their Ofsted local schools and NHS services; receive a text alert about their local football team, contact their local Councillor or MP, the weather; click on the local business page to find their local tradesman. Put up their own news article or organisation, blog or create a forum to get community opinion on the new Tesco Store planning application that could ruin their high street; chat with the subject of a story to itmatters2me local web master or District manager reporter.

For the first time it gives any advertiser trading anywhere in the UK the opportunity to cover their local area at an affordable cost and contribute to their community.
